Lausanne

Lausanne, Switzerland's fourth largest city, is located in the heart of western Switzerland on the shores of Lake Geneva. It is the capital of the canton of Vaud and, having been the seat of the International Olympic Committee since 1915, it has been designated the Olympic Capital in 1994. It also is the headquarter of more than fifty international sport federations.

Free public transport card

If you are staying in a hotel, you will receive a free transportation card (Lausanne Transport Card). The Lausanne Transport Card gives any guest staying in Lausanne and paying the overnight “taxe de séjour” free and unrestricted access to all public transport services in the city (bus, train, metro). It is valid for the duration of the reservation, including the arrival and departure days (maximum 15 days).

To benefit from free transports in Lausanne on your arrival day (as you will not have the card in your hands yet), you can simply print the confirmation of your Lausanne hotel and show it if there is a ticket control. This is only valid on your day of arrival and with a valid Lausanne hotel booking on this day.

How to get to Lausanne by public transportation

From Geneva International Airport to Lausanne

Lausanne is easily reached by direct trains (journey takes approx. 45-50 minutes and trains run 4 times per hour) from Geneva International Airport.

From Zurich International Airport to Lausanne

Two direct trains per hour (journey takes approx. 2.30 hours)

Please note that it is much shorter to arrive from Geneva Airport to get to Lausanne.

How to get to Lausanne by car

From Geneva International Airport to EPFL

By road, the distance from Geneva to Lausanne is around 60 km (37 miles) and if traffic is flowing smoothly, it can be reached in 45 minutes. Take the motorway A1 from the airport that runs past Nyon and Morges all the way to Lausanne. Follow Lausanne-Sud, exit at St-Sulpice/Ecublens and then follow UNIL/EPFL
